In the line of march which wended its way through Shelbyville's principal streets to the accompaniment of the crack band, were the smart and well-trained uniform ranks of the order.

The parade proceeded to the fairgrounds where an old fashion picnic, a baseball game and competitive drill were attractive features of the gala day afternoon program.

Band Gives Concert
At 7 o'clock Shelbyville's anxious music lovers turned out in full force to listen to band concert which was staged on the public square and another demonstration of military tactics cleverly executed by one of the Pythian companies.

NEW ATTACKS HEAD IS HIGHLY RECOMMENDED

Eastern Newspapers Speak In Glowing Terms Of Thomas J. Anderson — Described As Wonderful Character

That Thomas Jefferson Anderson, of Coatsville, Pa., newly appointed Crispus Attucks high school principal was a highly thought of citizen, in his home town and the cities where he functioned as a school teacher, can be readily seen from the following cuttings from eastern newspapers.

Says the Coatsville (Pa.) Record, in one column: "Thomas J. Anderson, after six years as principal of the James Adams school, here, pulls stakes to accept a lucrative offer in Indianapolis. Fine for Mr. Anderson—not so fine for Coatsville. In his six years here he has put over an unusually fine piece of work in the northeast section. More than a school teacher, he proved himself a community leader possessing tact used to splendid advantage upon occasion. A real job is cut out for his successor."

In another column of the same newspaper, the school superintendent said this: "Thomas J. Anderson has been in Coatsville six years and he has made a very fine record as principal of the James Adams school. He has been very active in building up the school as a community center and in raising its educational standards. Many of the pupils from his school have gone through high school and some of them have gone on to college. I am sorry to see him leave Coatsville."—Supt. Carl O. Benner.

Another Coatsville (Pa.) daily paper said of him: "The resignation of Thomas J. Anderson as principal of the James Adams school in this city was presented to the city school board at its regular meeting last night. Other business to come before the session was the opening of bids and the letting of contracts for the painting and improving of several buildings and the readjustment of the fire insurance.

"The resignation of Principal Anderson was discussed informally, but no action was taken regarding his successor. Members of the board expressed their regret at his leaving. Mr. Anderson came to Coatsville six years ago and he has made a fine record here. He has built up the merchant street school into a community center for that section of the city which has a wide influence for good among the colored people and he has raised the educational standards of the school.

"Mr. Anderson goes to Indianapolis, Ind., where on August 1, he will take charge of the Attacks high school of that city as principal. This school has an enrollment of 1,600 pupils and is the fourth largest colored high school in the United States. Mr. Anderson came to Coatsville as a graduate of Howard university without teaching experience and his rise in the educational world has been remarkable. He was born in Virginia but had lived in Washington be-

FT. WAYNE MAN, WOMAN, HELD FOR MURDER

FT. WAYNE, Ind., August 1.—(Special)—Ernest Orr, 24, alias Ernest Williams and Miss Carol Bright, 23, alias Carol Hunt, were arrested late Wednesday afternoon on a charge of murder. Both are wanted in Detroit, Mich., accused of the murder of Samuel Korn, owner of a haberdashery at 1028 Shane street, who was killed on the night of October 11, 1929, while resisting a holdup.

The colored man and woman were arrested by Detective Sergeants Eugene Bouchard and John Byers after Detective Sergeant Oscar Berry of the Detroit police homicide squad came here Wednesday afternoon with warrants for their arrest. The Detroit officers arrived here at 4 o'clock and at 5:30 o'clock he was en route to Detroit with the prisoners.

Orr, who was employed as a shine boy at the Colonial Billiard parlors, was arrested at Main and Court streets at 4:40 o'clock. Ten minutes later the Bright woman was arrested in their home at 527 Hayden street. Both waived extradition.

Korn was slain at 9:25 o'clock, when he resisted an attempted holdup at his store, shot Korn three times and as the storekeeper staggered toward his assailant the bandit fired three times more, killing him.

Miss Besie Daniels, 27, was arrested in Detroit on July 18. She made statements which named Alfen Thibadeaux, 29, as the man who did the killing and Orr and the Bright woman as members of the gang. The Daniels woman told police that Carol Bright associated with Korn had made the set-up and that she remained outside the store when Thibadeaux entered to rob the store. The woman, in her statement, also said that she and Orr were outside the store in an automobile in which the quartet made their escape.

A check-up revealed that $120 was missing from the cash register.

The Daniels woman also told Detroit police that the money taken in the robbery and murder was split four ways.

The investigation made by Detective Sergeants Bouchard and Byers revealed that Orr and the Bright woman came to Fort Wayne in October, soon after the murder, evidently seeking a safe hideout. After coming here they became associates of Walter (Buddy Boy) Hamilton, colored, who is now serving a sentence at the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., for violation of the federal narcotics law.

Over and Bright left Fort Wayne after living for a time in Hamilton's home at 513 Hayden street, the local officers learned. In February they returned to Fort Wayne, where they rented the horse at 527 Hayden street.

Paul C. Raine Drowns In Lake At Toledo, Ohio

Funeral Services To Be Held At Jones Tabernacle Church Saturday — Body Shipped To Home Town From Scene Of Tragedy

Funeral services for Paul C. Raine, 26 years old, who was drowned Monday night at Toledo, Ohio, will be held Saturday afternoon at 1:30 at the Jones tabernacle church, Michigan and Blackford streets.

Young Raine, it is said, was one of a party of excursionists on a pleasure boat at Toledo, Monday night, when the latter capsized and precipitated its human contents into the lake.

How many others met the same fate as did Young Raine was not known up until Tuesday by Mr. Raine's parents here, to whom a special telegram was dispatched late Monday night from the Ohio city, telling them of their son's fate.

Mr. Raine, who went to Toledo four months ago, from Indianapolis, is survived by his father and mother, General and Mrs. James T. Raine; three small children, Paul, Jr., 5; Sarah Bell, 7; and Helen Louise, 4; one sister, Mrs. Helen Bryant and a brother, Russell Raine.

In an interview with General Raine, Tuesday, following receipt of news of his son's death, the downcast father was unable to say just when the body of his deceased boy would reach Indianapolis.

Hospital Question Decided In St. Louis — Get New Building

ST. LOUIS, July 31.—(ANP)—The long drawn out controversy over the location of a city hospital for Negroes here came to an apparent end Monday when city officials agreed to pay into court $289,623 for the purchase of a site at St. Ferdinand, Goode, Kennerly and Whittier avenues.

$1,200,000 was set aside in a bond issue years ago to be used for the purchase of a Negro hospital. White physicians and city officials wanted it adjacent to the white hospital where it could be kept under white control.

Negroes fought the idea successfully before the Board of Aldermen. It served as an issue in numerous campaigns. Negroes as a whole stood pat and endured the insanitary rat trap city hospital No. 2 in which they were housed, but continued to fight for a new hospital in a Negro neighborhood.

At the meeting Monday, Mayor Miller, Comptroller Naitz, Welfare Director Salisbury and City Attorney Muench agreed to turn over the money on the site which has already been condemned. The building is expected to cost $900,000.

JULIA REED CONTINUED AS HEAD OF CALANTHE COURT IN INDIANA

Well-Known Fraternal Leader Elected To Grand Counsellor Post For The Nineteenth Time, At Shelbyville

ADMINISTRATION IS RATED HIGH

Mrs. Reed, grand worthy counsellor of the Court of Calanthe, was elected to that office for the 19th time at the state convention held at Shelbyville, last week.

Under her administration as chief executive, the court, with a membership of over 1500, has made remarkable progress.

Mrs. Reed is on record as having instituted a burial and endowment system now in vogue in connection with the latter features of the order. A circumstance that has resulted in bringing about a degree of efficiency in those departments unequalled in all the history of the state organization.

Mrs. Reed is also credited with having organized thirty courts throughout Indiana during her incumbency as grand worthy counsellor of the order. It was she who brought into being the present method of handling the finances of the organization. A fact that has helped to no small degree in contributing to the general progress of the Court of Calanthe.

It has just been revealed that Grand Counsellor Reed intends in the very near future to inaugurate a Calanthe court drive that is calculated to increase its membership 100 per cent. It is also included in her plans in line with her work as head of the organization, to foster what will be known by members of the order as educational and benevolence funds.

In fraternal and church circles, Mrs. Reed is recognized as one of the most constructive organizers in Hoosierdom.

Five Texas rangers and several deputy sheriffs guarded Washington in the courtroom. Washington, it is said, pleaded guilty placed himself at the mercy of the court and a jury which previously was sworn in to hear the case.

RICHMOND MAN KILLER SUSPECT

Michigan Police To Quiz Wade Hill, Held By Hoosier Authorities

RICHMOND, Ind., August 1.—Detroit police were expected to arrive today to question Wade Hill, 38, colored, concerning the ax murder of six persons at Detroit, July 3, 1929.

No charge has been filed against Hill, held in the Richmond jail, who has been made to believe his arrest was the outcome of a fight with a Richmond woman a few days ago.

Hill, also known as Frank Lewis, Wade Dinsmore and Louis Hood, was working as a yard man when arrested. He gave his name as Claude Lewis. Photograph and fingerprints were sent to the Detroit detective bureau.

BAPTIST FUNDS INTACT, REPORT OF AUDITOR

NASHVILLE, Tenn., August 3.—(By The Associated Negro Press)—The hearing in the extradition case of Dr. A. M. Townsend, Sr. and his son, Dr. A. M. Townsend, Jr., will be held at the earliest possible date, according to Wallace Edwards, secretary to the governor, who explained the delay as due to the enforced absence of Governor Horton from his office.

Friends of Dr. Townsend and his son, here and throughout the country, are manifesting much interest in the case and are rallying to them. The record and achievements of Dr. Townsend, as well as his standing in this city, according to his supporters, make it utterly impossible to believe that he was in any way connected with the killing of E. D. Pierson, on April 16.

The opinion is freely expressed here that the secretary of the National Baptist Publishing board is innocent and that he is the victim of an effort to discredit him before his people and others who believe in him. They condemned him for the attitude which has taken in the whole matter pointing out that he has not entered into any controversy in the press, but has continued to go about his business, carrying on the duties of his office in the same manner as before.

The accounts of the National Baptist Publishing board are being audited and it is declared that the results will show that there are no discrepancies in the records.

Candidate Would Deprive Negro Of Right To Vote

MACON, Ga., August 1.—(CNS)—Repeal of the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments to the constitution is advocated by E. D. Rivers, former Senator and candidate for Governor of Georgia. In speaking before members of the Georgia Rural Letter Carriers association in convention here, he said:

"Give the Negro citizenship he is qualified to hold and nothing more." "You can't make a government controlling citizens out of a Negro any more than you can make a race horse out of a mule—Rather than violating the law in refusing the Negro a vote, we had better repeal the law that gave him the right to vote. Repeal the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments and give him the citizenship he is qualified to hold."

ATLANTA, Ga., July 28.—

Several hours after T. L. Martin, white, was convicted of voluntary manslaughter and sentenced to 12 to 15 years for the slaying of Dennis Hubert, colored divinity student, Acting Mayor G. Everett Millican tonight issued a proclamation calling on members of all races in the city to combat "attempts of a few irresponsible factions to embroil the whole city in trouble."

Six other white men are under indictment in the same case. Martin was convicted after a trial lasting a week and because of the high feeling over the case, Judge E. Earl Camp of another county, presided. The jury had reached its verdict Saturday night but the judge ordered it sealed over the week-end. It was opened today.

Apparently fearing that certain elements in the community might take exception to the conviction of a white person for a crime against a colored man, the acting mayor issued the proclamation, one of the most unusual in the city's history.

Judge Ains Views
"It appears," said Millican's proclamation in part, "that incendiary and provocative actions are going on in the community with the view of destroying the harmony and peace and safety of our people, white and black."

"There is no danger threatening either race in Atlanta, other than these irresponsible small factions who are seemingly unconscious of the firebrands they are bearing."

To prevent violence in this civilized and Christian community, it is instantly the duty of every good law-abiding citizen to condemn these attempts to embroil the whole city in trouble."

Judge Camp, in passing sentence on Martin also commented on racial trouble-makers.

"It is only the lowest type of our citizenship that causes racial difficulties," he said. "We are determined that this class shall not disturb the orderly processes of our courts."

Mistaken Identity Claim
Immediately after Martin's sentence, Chief Defense Counsel H. A. Allen filed motion for a new trial. The special prosecutor, former Congressman William Schley Howard, who characterized young Hubert's slaying as a "diabolical outrage," announced that he was prepared for prosecution of the remaining six defendants.

Martin's defense was that the negro had made an improper proposal to a white woman and had placed hands upon her. He and his companions, he claimed, had sought to arrest Hubert and hold him for the police, but the negro threatened their lives.

The state showed that Hubert was with members of his family at church and at home until 15 minutes before he was shot to death. The prosecution claimed it was a case of mistaken identity.

Mrs. Howard was rushed to the City hospital where she was given treatment and sent back to her home accompanied by Robert Stapleton, a nephew.

Since the accident, Mrs. Howard has been confined to her home.

BAPTIST GOLDEN JUBILEE TO BE HARMONIOUS, SAYS EDITOR

Chicago Completes Preparations For Mammoth Twelve Day Celebration Next Month—Many Serious Matters To Be Considered—Warning Issued To Keep Baptist Ship Afloat

50,000 DELEGATES ARE EXPECTED

CHICAGO, August 1.—(ANP)—The idea that there would be much dissension and an ultimate split in the National Baptist convention of America, when the Golden Jubilee is celebrated here August 14-25, is preposterous, according to veteran editor of the American Baptist, the oldest denominational paper published by the organization.

Discussing the published reports that a split was in the making, editorially, the editor pointed out that "Some of the secular papers persist in publishing the statement that there will be a split in the denomination when the National Baptist convention holds its jubilee session in Chicago next month. Not a single Baptist paper in this country shares any such opinion and it seems that they are better authorities on this question than any other publications."

"There are serious matters to be considered during the session of the convention, but the wise and thoughtful leaders of the convention will be able to adjust any differences that may arise and will guide our great denomination into the haven of peace."

"The situation will require the best leadership that the denomination has at its command and since they know and understand the situation it would be suicidal to allow any mistakes to be made at this crucial period. Christian brethren should and will come to Chicago to harmonize and adjust any differences that may exist or may rise, in the proper spirit and not allow the old Baptist ship to be wrecked."

"The jubilee spirit which has been so prominent through the year should continue, and it should be the most valuable contribution that has ever been made to Baptist achievements in this country."

Chicago Ready For Delegates

Chicago is ready for the invasion of the 50,000 or more Baptists expected to attend the celebration, according to the reports of the Citizens committee, which is composed of some of the leading professional and business men and women of this city of all denominations. The committee has had the full support and co-operation of Chicagoans and nothing is being left undone to assure the event a great success.

Representatives of the various churches who will take part in the pageant which will be one of the features of the program are disingenuous who will play an important part in the parade or street musical, as well as the choral festival, are already arriving and rehearsals are the order of the day. Split or no split the session is going to be one great big celebration, if these plans are carried out.

Those in charge of arrangements seem to share the opinion of the editor of the American Baptist that there will be no upheaval but feel that the session will be harmonious in every way and that all differences will be settled and everything will be well with the great organization.

DEPARTMENT STORE STAGES HUGE TELEPHONE SALE

A St. Louis department store recently staged a sale of drug and toilet goods in which 9,000 telephone orders were taken in one day and more than 25,000 individual sales were made. The advertisements in the newspapers carried an invitation to the public to telephone their orders, and forty-five special order-takers, trained to use a telephone intelligently, were called into service and given instructions as to how to make out the telephone order blanks that were used. An additional number of employees were given instructions on transferring the information contained in the telephone orders to the regular sales checks.

One of the most interesting features of the sale was that the telephone orders were taken after the store closed, from 5 to 9 o'clock.

H. C. Russell Elected National Grand Master U. B. F. And S. M. T.'s At Meet

LOUISVILLE, Ky., August 1.—(ANP)—The United Brothers of Friendship and Sisters of the Mystical Ten, have closed a very successful national gathering in this city, the birthplace of the order, 69 years ago. While crowds were not as large as in past years, yet there was great enthusiasm manifested by the delegates who came from many distant states. Texas sent the largest delegation.

Quinn Chapel Headquarters

Monday evening marked the opening session at Quinn chapel A. M. E. church, where Secretary H. C. Russell served as master of ceremonies. Governor Flen Samson in his usual characteristic style tendered a hearty welcome to the visiting delegates. Among the many things that Governor Samson said was that he apologized to the race for the treatment by his race of the colored race during days of slavery. The mayor of Louisville was out of the city. He sent his secretary to welcome the delegates on behalf of Louisville. Addresses of welcome were also delivered by representative citizens. Response was given by Prof. Rhodes who is president of Bishop college, Texas.

Africa Sends Delegates

Delegates came from Indiana, Missouri, Kansas, Pennsylvania, Colorado, Alabama, Liberia, West Coast of Africa, Tennessee, Louisiana, Kansas, Texas, Minnesota, Ohio, California and Kentucky.

The following officers were elected after a very interesting contest: H. C. Russell, Louisville, national grand master; Duke Diggs, national deputy grand master; H. C. McGruder, national grand secretary, Texas; W. A. Gaines, national grand treasurer, Evansville, Ind.; Miss Nellie Hagar of Winchester, Ky., was elected national grand princess.

The next sessions of the organization will be in the State of Texas. The Houston Military band gave special concerts throughout the city. This band was composed of leading Business and Professional Men of Houston, Tex.

Prof. H. C. Russell, who was elected as National Grand Master, resides in Louisville and was recently appointed to a government position as assistant educational director, he has been the national grand secretary of the U. B. F. for the past six years. Mr. Joseph R. Ray, president of the First Standard bank who had charge of the Military outfits and Mr. Henry Allen, who was the general chairman of the local committees merit great praise for their great work in making the stay of the visitors a pleasant one.

CHARLOTTE CLEARING DECKS FOR 1930 CONCLAVE, MYSTIC SHRINES

CHARLOTTE, N. C., August 1.—(ANP)—Northern Shriners have been wondering what sort of a time they were going to have in Charlotte, N. C., the home of Coe R. Blake, Jr., imperial potentate of the A. E. A. O. N. M. Shrine who so successfully conducted the fight for his organization's existence through local, state and Federal courts during the past half dozen years. When the North Carolina metropolis was selected as the next place of meeting at the Chicago session, Mr. Blake promised complete southern hospitality and sustaining proof from the mayor of the city, Chamber of Commerce, and other influential local interests. That he will be fully able to "Make Good" on those assurances is best told in the news story of another large race convention which closed its sessions in that city on July 11th.

Woodmen Get Big Welcome

The Eastern District convention of the American Woodmen convened in Charlotte during the week of July 7. The organization was welcomed by Mayor George E. Wilson, in person with Mr. C. O. Kuester, executive secretary of the Charlotte Chamber of Commerce; Dr. H. L. McCrorey, president of Johnson C. Smith university, and Caesar R. Blake, Jr., in the new City auditorium, the same fine structure which together with the university has been placed at the disposal of the Shriners.

Leave Greatly Pleased

The Woodmen left Charlotte greatly pleased with the spirit exhibited by the city authorities, the local daily press and citizens. The brother and completely national character of the Shriners organization will doubtlessly prompt Charlotte to try to be even more hospitable if possible than it was to the district group of woodmen, especially since one of its own citizens heads the order.

Shriners and Charlotte citizens are both liable to learn a lot between August 4 and 7 that will be helpful to race relations.

PORO COLLEGE HEADQUARTERS MOVED FROM ST. LOUIS TO CHICAGO

Agents Of Progressive Institution Thru-out The Country Notified Of Transfer To The Windy City In 50,000 Letters

NEW HOME TO BE "PORO BLOCK"

Poro college has moved its headquarters to Chicago. Mrs. Annie M. Malone, founder and owner of the famous institution, made the announcement this week in a letter which was sent to the more than 50,000 agents affiliated with this organization and who are scattered throughout every nook and cranny of the country.

It has been known for some time in business circles here that Mrs. Malone was quietly acquiring extensive real estate holdings in Chicago. She now owns the entire block on South Parkway, formerly Grand boulevard, between 44th and 45th streets. This block in former years was occupied by a group of multi-millionaires, John R. Thompson, the restaurant man; Thomas Carey, the brick magnate, and other ultra wealthy men built the magnificent houses surrounded by expansive lawns which fill the block. These buildings have been remodeled and for the present will house the various departments of the business. One structure for sometime has been occupied by the College of Beauty Culture.

Poro block will be the designation of this new Poro home. Mrs. Malone is said to have plans for a pretentious building program, but no announcement of her intentions in this regard has been made public. Mrs. Malone did, however, issue a statement in which she explained the transfer of the business from St. Louis to Chicago.

"We have felt for some time," she said, "that Chicago was the logical place for our main plant."

"In the first place our volume of business among the 200,000 colored residents of Chicago is larger than any other single point. Again we are closer to the sources of supply with consequent savings from a manufacturing and shipping standpoint. Too, Chicago, in my opinion, is the capital of Negro America. The people here are accomplishing things. The atmosphere is one of commercial striving, endeavor, and promise."

"St. Louis is a wonderful city. I love my own people in St. Louis. I have tried to serve them. But St. Louis in most of its attitudes is a southern city. My experience would lead me to doubt that Negro business can grow to large magnitude in the south without feeling something of restraint as well as a certain sense of insecurity."

"We are hopeful that Chicago will offer us an opportunity for continued growth and development so that we may have the privilege of rendering better service to our fellow women and men."

The gigantic task of moving Poro, undoubtedly the largest manufacturing enterprise within the group, from one city to another, was accomplished with the precision and dispatch for which the organization is famous. Everything was planned. It is said that shipping and correspondence suffered only one day's delay. Nearly a special freight train was required for transportation aside from the fleet of motor vans which brought loads of special equipment over the highway.

Practically all of the managerial, clerical and manufacturing personnel moved to Chicago with the business. Many whole families moved to Chicago so as to be with members who were working in the organization and wished to retain their places.

The employees left St. Louis at midnight Saturday night in a cavalcade of buses, arriving in Chicago Sunday. They were met by Mrs. Malone, the Chicago employees, and a number of citizens who accorded them something of a formal welcome. Dean William Pickens, field secretary of the N. A. A. C. P.; Assemblyman George T. Kersey, president of the National Negro Undertakers association; Mrs. Robert E. Wilson, Mrs. Howard, executive director of the Mt. Greenwood foundation; Mrs. Lee, president of the Chicago Poro club, an organization comprising a thousand women, and Dr. C. K. Bartlett, were among those who spoke. Music was rendered by the Centurian club.

Mr. Pickens in a stirring address ended by saying "I marvel at the extent and the possibilities of Poro in Chicago. I thought Poro building at St. Louis was wonderful, but I see now that it was but a stepping stone toward the really great future of Poro in Chicago."

Evangelist's Attempt To Defraud Flock Lands Him In South Carolina Jail

COLUMBIA, S. C., August 1.—(ANP)—A heart-rending sob story told by "The Rev. W. W. McNeil" of how his brother and sister had been killed in an automobile wreck for purpose of collecting funds, landed the "evangelist" in jail on charges of attempt to defraud.

McNeil, alias James Smith, who has been conducting revival services in the rural districts and hamlet, armed himself with a telegram relating the disaster and went to various churches and fraternal organizations asking help so that he might go to Montgomery and claim the bodies of his lost beloved ones. The plea fell upon ears that heard sympathetically and the money was raised in a short time.

There was one doubting Thomas in the group in the person of Jas. Dickerson, farm demonstration agent, and Deacon of one of the churches, and Dickerson decided to do a little investigating before handing over the check to the grieved minister.

The investigation proved that the whole thing was a hoax and the case was turned over to Detective Allan and instead of handing over the money, "Rev. McNeil" was served with a warrant and placed in jail. At the hearing of the case, McNeil was given the preference of serving ninety days in the city jail or paying fines.

Alice Rhinelander, Kip's Discarded Wife, Now Claims To Be A White Woman

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—(ANP)—Comes now Alice Rhinelander, the best news copy colored newspapers have had in their century of existence, with the following statement:

"I am as white as you are. I could not afford to marry a colored man as some newspapers declare I intended doing. My mother is English and my father is of Indian extraction, with his mother being white. The thing which has hurt me most in all of my litigations in court is the fact that the newspapers have called me a 'Negress.'"

All of which is a winding up of the most publicized colored woman ever to break into the front pages of Metropolitan newspapers. The latest news from the warring camps is that the $31,500 which Alice is to receive is merely the first payment of a sum estimated at $250,000.

To Marry Virginian?

The statements that she was to marry a member of a German vaudeville troupe, a gentleman by the name of Berger, was denied by Alice, who did say that she had been out with Mr. Berger, one or two times and that the troupe tried to get her to appear in their vaudeville act. But she reneged when it came time to signing a contract.

Following this was a statement to the effect that Kip's discarded wife, who is white, according to her own statement, and black according to Kip and a jury, would marry a colored gentleman from Virginia, answering to the name of John Williams.

To Sail For England

It is rumored that the former Mrs. Rhinelander will sail for a trip to England shortly, but whether or not the English government will admit her is questionable. England has never forgotten the case of the Countess Cathcart and strikes back with the same weapon of "moral turpitude," which faced the countess on her visit to America, when James C. Thomas, a colored attorney in the Federal service, fought her admission to these fair shores.

The train will leave the Union station next Thursday at 12:01 a. m., and arrive at Lexington at 6:30 a. m.

For any further information, concerning the Lexington fair excursion, the public is being urged to call TA. 2975 or LI. 7872.

TUSKEGEE MEN MAKING GOOD OVER COUNTRY

(Athletic News Bureau)
TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala.—Where are the terrible Tigers of other days? The men who represented Tuskegee institute on the gridiron in years gone by? What are they doing? What successes have they met with? These and many other questions are frequently asked concerning Tuskegee gridmen whose names no longer appear in the line-up.

R. S. Darnaby, secretary of the institute athletic committee, has compiled the following information about some of the stars who formerly flashed across the country's gridiron wearing the Crimson and Gold of Tuskegee.

Paul Smith, without a doubt, the smartest quarterback of this decade, passed on after the season of 1927. Smith is married, has two fine children, and is living in Winston-Salem, North Carolina. He is working at his trade, plumbing.

Ashton C. Kitchens, captain, and all-American tackle of the 1924 ever victorious Tiger squad, is living in Philadelphia. He is married and has one child. Kitchens is the physical director for the Wissahickon Boys' club, Germantown, Philadelphia.

Oscar Tadlock, all-American center, who played his last year during the season of 1927, is married and is living in Bastrop, La. He is following his trade, brickmasonry.

William E. Steward, who from 1924 to 1927, was one of the really great line crashers, is married and has one child. He taught last year at Shawnee, Okla.

Cornelius Robinson, captain and tackle of the 1928 team, is married and is working on his father's farm in his home state—Texas.

William Harris, half-back on the 1927 team, is living in Chicago and is continuing his studies there.

Earl Ellis, the greatest running guard that Tuskegee ever had left at the end of his sophomore year and entered Howard university, where for the season of 1928 and 1929 he has starred at tackle.

Aubrey Tobin, who starred at Tuskegee in 1920, 21 and 22, entered Virginia Union university and played a great game at center during the seasons of 1923-24 and 25.

Amos Williams, who played brilliantly for Tuskegee, in 1919, 20 and 21 (he was captain of the team his last year) entered Atlanta university and was a tower of strength on the Crimson Hurricane team during the season of 1922-23-24-25-26 and 27. Williams is now in the railway mail service.

James F. Boss, star quarterback, 1920-1923, is athletic director at Howard academy, Ocala, Fla. He has turned out several championship teams in the Florida conference.

William Jennings, all-American guard, 1924, entered Paul Quinn college in 1925 and again was named an all-American guard. Jennings is now located in Waco, Tex.

Millard Wooten, a member of the famous "Four Horsemen," has been working at his trade, brickmasonry, Birmingham, Ala., since he left school in 1927.

Ernest T. Bailey, who since his graduation from the high school department in 1927, has been out of school. He plans to continue his education at Tuskegee this fall where it is expected he will fill his hold position at fullback.

In the graduation this year of Grover Marion Britton and Owen J. Duncan, Tuskegee, lost two great linemen. Duncan remained out of school two years working and returned in 1928 and completed his work for his B. S. degree this year. Duncan has recently been named director of physical education for men and athletic

Game Of Tennis Occupies A Unique Status In The World Of Sport

Functions Of Organization Are To Make It An Actuality In The Sport Lives Of The Negro Youth

By DR. THEODORE CABLE
For the third time the arbiters of the A. T. A. have seen fit to bend their gaze toward the middle west in selecting the host for the National championships. The choice of Indianapolis was peculiarly fitting from several points of view. First, there is the matter of economy. For the group of entrants and their followers as a whole, the item of traveling expenses will be very materially lessened because players from Illinois, Ohio, Kentucky, Michigan and the far west and the south-west will have to come only a fraction of the usual distance. On the other hand, the participants from the Atlantic seaboard will have an added element of vacation induced by a departure from their accustomed environment.

One of the most important functions of the National organization is to develop the spirit of tennis, an appreciation of tennis, and to make it a throbbing actuality in the sport lives of our youth. Obviously, in these championships, there will be a greater number of college players and school boys attracted than ever before. With the advent of more young players, particularly enough there will be a more marked trend toward the type of tennis one sees at Forest Hills. This prediction may be established by the observation that the younger players who are purposeful enough to enter tournaments, naturally imitate the nation's outstanding players who give consideration to the orthodox technique of grip, stroke, posture and foot work.

The game of tennis occupies a unique status in sport. While it is inherent a sport of youth, all contributions as to its fundamental mechanics come from the seasoned veterans making their last stand. Tennis has always been unequalledly a gentleman's game, embodying all the niceties of culture, ethics and social intercourse. The all embracing fetish of sportsmanship, may here, if anywhere, find unlimited expression. I am happy to note that with each succeeding year our championships give increased evidence that we are acquiring a growing appreciation of that soul of competition.

The physical and mental requirements of the game are severe. The player of championship calibre must have resilient vitality, a high degree of animal courage and graceful agility. Physical and moral stamina can not be lacking. Moreover a basic knowledge of what, when and how must be accompanied by the natural gifts of competitive instinct. Your ideal tennis player appears to be a pretty admirable fellow. Every act of the A. T. A. should be calculated to encourage those who are fitted and willing to make the necessary sacrifices to achieve this sort of goal.

Those who attended the tournament in 1929 at Bordentown, will never forget that brilliant spectacle of players and spectators which was a kaleidoscope of color and interest for six days. They must certainly be looking forward to August, 1930, with hope and curiosity. They may expect a city alive with interesting people, pleasant homes and broad hospitality. The National Medical association will convene at Indianapolis during the same week. Within a hundred yards of the courts there may be found an outdoor swimming pool, a nine-hole golf course, a dancing pavilion and abundant shade and grass. There are many reasons why we may expect these championships of 1930 to be productive of brilliant play, treasured contacts, and the furtherance of a progressive program.

"LADIES OF LEISURE"

How Would You Like To Hear ...

Maurice Chevalier and Evelyn Brent in a slap-stick Lubitsch sketch which shows that the Apache dance originated in a bedroom?

Buddy Rogers and Lillian Roth sing a bright, new, catchy tune about what time is the right time to fall in love?

The dialog that would ensue if Philo Vance, Sherlock Holmes, Sergeant Heath and Dr. Fu Manchu should gather to discuss a crime? With Jack Oakie as the victim?

Ray Francis sing Carmen? With Harry Green as the Toreador? Ruth Chatterton as a Montmartre girl in a Paris cafe, singing a ballad to four Marines about her Marine?

Maurice Chevalier as a Paris cop? Little Mitz, the "Honey" child, imitating Chevalier in one of his songs?

Clara Bow singing her new "It" hit, "I'm True to the Navy Now," with Jack Oakie, Skeets Gallagher and a chorus of forty-two sailors for a n audience?

A history lesson with Helen Kane as the teacher? Dennis King's golden voice in a stirring Russian love-song? Nancy Carroll singing and hoofing a mad, merry jazz dance to the music of Abe Lyman and his Band?

George Bancroft's remarks at a swanky social function if he obeyed his underworld impulses? The singing of a flock of Hollywood beauties, heard as they are seen in intricate dances, bright costumes and novel settings, many of the scenes in Technicolor?

You will hear all these things, and many others in "Paradise on Parade," at the Walker theatre starting Sunday for four days.

Ordered To Fight Corbett, In Title Go

YOUNG JACK THOMPSON

Champion Young Jack Thompson has been ordered by the California Boxing commission to meet Young Jack Corbett in a welter-weight championship bout within six months.

Thompson has twice been defeated by Corbett in non-championship battles, once since winning the crown.

Promoters are attempting to stage a Baby Joe Gans-Young Jack Corbett bout with a promise to the winner of a chance at Thompson.

Corbett is a white welter possessing a style very difficult for Thompson to solve.

TIMELY CANDIDACY

Waltham M. Moore, one of Missouri's two Negro state representatives is waging a fight to succeed Congressman L. C. Dyer as the Republican nominee in the 12th Missouri Congressional district.

What the outcome will be when the Missouri primary election is over August 5, seems to be a matter of much uncertainty in the minds of many voters of the state.

On the other hand, it is refreshing to note that Moore as well as his campaign backers are confident of success. Dispatches contain the inspiring information that the Moore for Congress meetings rock with an overflow of essentially patriotic sentiment developed in favor of sending a black man to congress from Missouri.

In the meantime, Dyer is described as being equally confident of victory. The anti-lynching proponent has refused to deliver any speeches in the district and observers state that is opponent is not discussing political issues.

Mr. Dyer is credited with having said that the attempt of Mr. Moore and his adherents to raise the race issue in the district can only result in harm to the Negroes, and that they are the only ones who suffer from racial animosities.

Possibly Mr. Dyer is counting on this very issue raised by Moore's followers to solidify the whites behind him. If so, it is not bad reckoning because such tactics in politics, have time and again re-acted seriously, to the detriment of the Negro's cause. Negro voters of Missouri, who are interested in sending Mr. Moore to congress should seek to do so, not by Negro voters alone, but with the help of white voters.

This is possible only if they avoid the blunder of rekindling race antagonism and proceed with the work of nominating and electing their man in a broad spirit of progressive intelligence.

Missouri voters say that a Negro, if nominated, would have to have votes other than those of Negroes to win the election. Hence, the timely suggestion that in their endeavor to make the Moore campaign a successful one his adherents should shun the race question.

It is now definitely known that Moore's candidacy has roused much interest among the rank and file of the voters in his district. That is encouraging. If he is nominated and elected, Moore, who is reputed to be a high-class and able citizen, should be splendid company for Oscar DePriest, who every one knows years for a fitting associate in the congress.

It is to be hoped that the Moore for Congress campaign will be successful.

SUCCESS FOR MR. ANDERSON

Thomas J. Anderson will assume his duties as principal of Crispus Attucks High school in September. The new high school head comes to Indianapolis, we understand, with all the necessary scholastic preparedness that fits him admirably for the place for which he was selected.

Having had the required amount of experience in the work, it is to be hoped that the new comer will find no difficulty whatever in adjusting himself to his new environment and coping with the new situation with which he will soon be confronted.

It is hardly to be expected that Mr. Anderson would have been recommended for the Attucks principalship unless he was found to be possessed of all the vitally necessary qualities of a fully efficient high school head. From all indications every precaution was taken by the school board to avoid the unpardonable error of choosing a man that was not in its estimation, big enough for the place. Absolute confidence, we think, is reposed by the general public in the board's action in assigning Mr. Anderson to the Attucks post. This is so because it is pretty well known now that the appointment was not made until the fitness of the proposed incumbent was carefully investigated.

The newcomer's record proves beyond a doubt that he is a splendid embodiment of the qualities of an educator of merit. A circumstance which, we are glad to say, is being regarded with just pride on the part of parents and students who are naturally interested in Attucks's noble mission. Such being the case, it is to be hoped that not only parents and pupils, but the public in general, will co-operate fully with Mr. Anderson in his new responsibilities.

The new Attucks principal is entitled to, and we believe will receive, full support in his school work here from all lovers of progress in Indianapolis.

Citizens who have met and talked to Mr. Anderson, describe him as a most approachable and likeable person. That is most encouraging news indeed, since it is generally understood that all teachers are not of the kindest disposition.

Our Contemporaries Say

SOUND BUSINESS ADVICE

There are several old adages, "business is business," "business before pleasure," etc., which, translated, means that business cannot be done on promises, songs or hopes, but only on sound, practical, punctual business methods. Contracts are agreements to pay and ought to be regarded as sacred obligations. This, some of our group have not yet learned to do and because of this is fast losing the respect of the business world. Firm after firm and company after company is declining Negro patronage with thanks. Do you wonder why it is so? Listen, it is not perjury, not caste, not social contact or social discrimination, none of these things; it is simply lack of certainty, reliability and promptness on the part of the Negro to make good his agreement. It is this laxity, slackness and tardiness that is causing us to lose out in the business world. The commercial agencies, the trade journal, the collection agencies are all filing a bill of complaint against the Negro and the merchants and business men are heeding their advice. We are not scolding, nagging or knocking the race; we are but telling living truths, truths to help us and not let us fall in the esteem of those with whom we have to do business. Keep your eye upon this column for sound business advice. THE COLORADO STATESMAN is in the field of constructive race help and is only doing its duty. —THE COLORADO STATESMAN.

WALL STREET, THE BAROMETER

Wall Street! What conflicting emotions it gives rise to.

Some think that that little street controls the purse-strings of everybody's pocket-book in the United States, and since the war the treasury of other nations too. Others think that only through Wall street the course of industrial progress can be steadily directed. Both views are correct, because Wall street, like every other social instrument, is a double-edged instrument and cuts both ways.

While Wall Street enables the concentration of wealth into the hands of a bigoted, narrow-minded few, it also makes possible the adventures and the daring new steps in the progress of industrialism by facilitating the flow of capital into those new ventures. In recent years cinema and radio became overnight new industries.

We do not propose to delve into the many shortcomings of Wall street, which is, no doubt, the symbol of the strength of Capitalism. What we want to point out is that Wall street is almost an accurate barometer of the forces of Capitalism. It gauges correctly by responding with its quick movements just how healthy the productive and consumptive forces are. The Negro must keep an eye on the movements of Wall street so that we may some day take advantage of those ups and downs.

But after all, Wall street is an irony. It starts at the foot of a church and graveyard and ends at the East river. Mark the graveyard and the river! Wall street—we wonder!

COMMISSION SHOCKS HAITIANS

Carl Murphy, editor of the Afro-American, said in an article written for that paper, that the Motion Commissioners sang spirituals for a Port au Prince college assembly while they were in Haiti investigating the Haitian education system for President Hoover. He stated also that the Haitian elite were shocked and considered it rather undignified for them to do so. The commissioners also, according to the article, sang several spirituals on board the ship that brought them back to the United States. Passengers and officers are said to have gathered to listen to the singing. Dunbar's dialect poem "When Malinda Sings," was read by Dr. Mordecai Johnson, president of Howard university, while Dr. Johnson and Dr. G. Lake Imes, of Tuskegee, read sermons from James Weldon Johnson's "God's Trombones."

Of course it shouldn't be a matter of too great surprise to hear of anything done by the commission, after it accepted the Jim Crow station provided by Herbert Hoover, but the report that these representative gentlemen have made of themselves ministers for the public's entertainment, is at least nauseating. One could hardly imagine the presidents of Harvard and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology engaging in a sing for the entertainment of a ship's officer and passengers on which they were passengers. Howard and Tuskegee, it appears to us, should appear to just as great advantage among Negroes as Harvard and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology appear to the rest of the country. The Haitians if shocked at the Port au Prince vocal demonstration, had been doubly shocked at the spectacle of these ambassadors' endeavor to amuse white people on board ship. It is a hard matter to counsel against buffoonery when those who are mightiest among us set the example.

—THE PALMETTO LEADER.

Homely Philosophy

PLEASURE IN NONSENSE

Taxed as we are by the stress and strain of every day living and the ever tightening screws of existence, outlets and relaxations are needed. Real pleasure is very hard to find and a good laugh is a splendid tonic, therefore, let us find pleasure in sheer nonsense once and a while. Let us bubble over and throw care overboard as an off-foreswearing cup overflows. Afterward, when we take up our problems again, we shall feel refreshed and be stronger to carry on.

CRUISING AROUND

By LEE JAY MARTIN

C. R. takes no pride in the fact that the Moton-Haitian commission did not amount to anything as he predicted. Washington has not treated Dr. Moton with half as much respect as Alabama treats him.

After refusing decent transportation for the Gold Star mothers, the Hoover administration, sent the perfunctory Moton commission to Haiti, and in a manner told them to return in a coal ship, or walk.

I can not believe that the president is attempting to get even with the Negroes for opposing the confirmation of Judge Parker, or their attitude towards Mr. Hueston, the G. O. P. chairman, but in view of the fine start made, the idea keeps bobbing up.

Eva Jessye, musical director of "Hallelujah," the only Negro picture of any consequence yet produced, complains at this late date, about not receiving her chicken on location, and about her acceptance of a salary too low. We pay tribute to Eva Jessye and the other actors for hiding their anguish pains, and presenting the fine acting and music, we saw and heard in "Hallelujah," the picture of pictures. We condemned King Vidor for making little Eva take $100 per week, and ham sandwiches instead of chicken.

Judge Hueston of Gary, Ind., who has been elevated to a good government position, finds the "muckrakers" are after him. While we believe in Mr. Hueston, it is rather annoying that there is always a bad story about our leaders, when they attempt to climb. Would advise our leaders to be more careful, watch their step, do not carelessly step in the mire or corruption for it will not come off.

The Pierson murder case is slowly turning to acquittal for those accused, freedom for those who did it. If we are to believe what the papers record.

Down in Georgia, two whites are sentenced to death for robbing and slaying an aged Negro. I do not gloat over any one's death, under any condition, but it is a feather in Georgia's cap, in deciding to punish the guilty, regardless of the color of their skin.

Shelbyville, that beautiful and energetic city of ten thousand progressive citizens, which has gained almost a thousand new inhabitants in the last ten years, royally entertained the Indiana Pythians last week.

The Mayor, Hon. L. E. Webb, and the Judge, James Emmeret, welcomed the Pythians at their Monday night's reception, and stayed until it was over, the only official of any Indiana city to thus honor the organization.

The mayor placed at the disposal of the Pythians the new and convenient City hall and ended his address by saying: "If anything displeases you, bring your troubles to Lew."

Mrs. E. J. K. Hines, who appeared to me as being the woman behind the gun, and little Miss Woodson, were the hits of the reception.

Sir Benjamin Smith, William McSmith, C. G. Alexander, W. G. Hines, Prof. W. S. Fort, B. R. Motley, Rev. W. H. Riley, Rev. Barney Stone, Rev. Y. C. Terrell, Mrs. Elizabeth Lambert, Mrs. Hattie Gatewood, Mrs. Mary Vaughn, all played important parts in the reception.

Mr. C. W. Strider and Jerry Daniels were munching away on snowballs, when a lady asked for a seat. Col. Daniels said something which indicated that the lady would have to find her own seat, but when he found out the lady in question was his wife, he swallowed snowballs, words and all.

About a year ago, James Weldon Johnson, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, took a vacation on a Rosenwald fellowship. We all began to wonder what he was doing during a year of obscurity and became expectant. The secret is now out. He merely retired to his studio to paint a picture of "Black Manhattan."

And a right good likeness has he made. Although he has used words instead of colors, the portraits stand out in life-like likeness before our eyes. He does not essay to write a history or to deduce economic, political or sociological conclusions, but merely to paint a picture. He only touches such other features of the Negro's situation as will throw revealing light on his portrait. It is a picture which white people will delight to view. They are already surprised to satiety by the tedious reasoned treatises on this forbidden subject, and wish to be only amused and entertained by the dark contingent within their midst. In other words, they refuse to consider the Negro seriously. But tell them about the Negro jockey, banjo player, prize fighter, minstrel, mimic, buck dancer, cabaret critic, jazz orchestra, singer of jubilee glees or Memphis blues, and they will not only stop to hear but linger to listen. They never tire of the dramatic portrayal of lowly life of the humble or the grotesque critics of the upish. It might now be said that the Jews own New York, the Irish rule it and the Negroes amuse and entertain it. When the white Manhattanites in quest of the spectacular, the bizarre, the picturesque, the ridiculous, and the absurd, he calls for his Negro amusers as ception. Dainty Mrs. Gertrude Johnson, busy as a thousand bees, at every place of action, with Mrs. Emma Hines, forced me into being the groom at the All-Nation's wedding, after Carl Milligan of Terre Haute, flatly turned down the offer stating that an African bride, had won, and they wanted a perfect African for the groom.

The attractive Mrs. James Reeves, my landlady and wife of the town cleaner, was the go-getter of the week, whether registering visitors at headquarters, serving meals at the hall, selling bargains at the grand lodge, taking tickets at the fairgrounds or caring for her own guest in the very highest style and manner, the same pleasant but strictly business smile greeted you.

Nor have I ever met a more congenial couple than "Ma and Pa" Cooper. I felt completely at home and acted that way. In this home I could have remained all summer. I mean as far as I was concerned.

There were three Porters in the house, Sir Will H. Porter of Indianapolis, Sir Beuna Porter of Terre Haute, and Porter, the dog. On a call for breakfast, Mrs. Cooper missed Mr. Porter of Terre Haute and inquired "Where is Mr. Porter?" Mr. Cooper was in the back yard with Porter, the dog, and hearing the last word of Mrs. Cooper's question, replied, "I put him out here."

The mecca of the visitors was Motley's Home kitchen, a cozy, neat and compact luncheonette at the corner of Locust and another street which ran in the opposite direction. Nowhere have I ever drank better and colder soft drinks.

The entire committee, Lucile Townsley, Luther Murray, Mable Martin, James Reeves, Andrew Jackson, Edward Gatewood, Odesa Dunn, Elizabeth Slaughter, worked like trojans for the pleasure and comfort of the visitors, even Chester Townsley was seen here, there and everywhere.

We started for the ball game, got as far as the grandstand and decided to go no further. The ball game was farther east, according to Mrs. Will H. Porter, who was able to spot the game through Mr. Bliss Reed's field glasses.

Hayes Hackner of Evansville, unofficial scorer, quit his job when he ran out of paper on which to mark the scores.

After we had watched AT the game an hour, Mrs. Redford of South Bend, asked me, "was I going to the ball game?"

Mack D. Smith, handsome east-sider, was there, and how?

Marshall Davis, did a step which resembled the "Pigeon-wing" as Gabriel Stanley's master musicians put the finishing touches on "Happy Days."

C. W. Strider and Jerry Daniels were munching away on snowballs, when a lady asked for a seat. Col. Daniels said something which indicated that the lady would have to find her own seat, but when he found out the lady in question was his wife, he swallowed snowballs, words and all.

The King of bygone days for his clown. There is also a deeper note. He needs also to page the jubilee singers when he would have his spiritual emotions started and stirred as nothing else can do.

It is needless to dwell at greater length on the direct purpose and aim of the book. Mr. Johnson has done a well nigh perfect piece of work which we all have longed to see done. With Shakespearean faithfulness, he has held up the mirror to nature. The book will probably run through many editions as it deserves to do.

I suppose that a half hundred books have been written on Harlem during the past twenty years with another half hundred yet to follow before interest in the subject shall have been exhausted. What a field for an adequate sociological treatise on racial contacts? Negroes have formed a part of Manhattan since 1626. One hundred years ago, there were 44,000 of them in the state, and 14,000 in the city. As early as the middle of the last century, this Negro contingent produced such names as John B. Russwurm, James Macaulay, Alexander Crummell, and Ira Aldridge, which compare favorably with any like number of Afro-American celebrities that might be listed today. But all of these have been lost without trace. The fifty thousand Negroes found in New York City and state in 1860, few of their descendants figure in Johnson's Black Manhattan. These are all new comers. Ordinary and exceptional Negroes drawn from the four quarters of the nation and from West Indian isles, and exposed to the new and unusual conditions have made the name of Harlem famous throughout the nation.

Neither can we escape the reflection that race prejudice though somewhat modified in form, is as assertive here as elsewhere. Harlem, thy name is segregation. But a flood of reflective suggestions sweeps me beyond my limits. May be Dr. James Weldon Johnson (whom I had the honor to hood with the doctorate) in a future volume or volumes, will engage to elucidate some of these reflections which well up in the mind as we contemplate the future of Harlem and of the Negro race.

Our Readers Say

To the Editor,

The Indianapolis Recorder. What are you sending your sons and daughters to college for? Are they scholars? Are they numbered with the students that can master a technical education, or are they with that mass ordained to be hewers of wood and drawers of water?

Modern educators, white and colored, say many in college would be better off working at some profitable labor. Unless one is a scholar it is impossible to graduate from schools of high learning. Why not fit them for work that requires more brains than shoe shining or porter work?

Parents should demand that courses other than academic be offered at Attucks. Tuition and other expenses make it impossible for the average high school graduate to go to college. Yet in answer to the question "What are you going to do?" the graduate answers, "Go to college." Maybe it would be better to show them that it is impossible because of lack of funds and scholarship as well, early in the high school career than to let them graduate with false notions and finally have to increase the number of unskilled laborers. Students from Manuel and Tech high schools have become college students. Yet the parents of the colored children are satisfied with only an academic school when the masses of our people must depend on skilled hands. We cannot dodge the issue and take the line of least resistance by preparing for professional life all together. We cannot hope to go very far trying to make a race of professionals alone. Craftsmen, mechanics, tradespeople and artisans of all kinds go to make a race. Parents are not far sighted when they encourage all the younger generation to be professionals. The most outstanding result is snobbishness and contempt for honest and profitable work. Why can't we make business by trading among ourselves if not with the other race. The colored tax payers should see to it that the colored high school gives to our girls and boys the things that the times are demanding. This is an age of brain and hands. Any unskilled people will remain at the bottom of the ladder. Let them be black or white. We know our needs. We know why we fail. We should not stand waiting to see our children fail and then blame the white race. The Negro should have a representative on the school board to see that our children get the education that is best fitted for them, and will guarantee them a livelihood after they have finished their course of study, that will help them to be honest, industrious and then keep them from being cheap imitators of the rich. Rather have them imitate the ways of the middle class and get the most out of life by wholesome living. There is always a place for skilled hands and active brains that work together. On the other hand, there is only one of every 5000 of the higher schools that is in demand. For that reason the people of the other race are seeing to it that their children get technical training along with their academic training. Why shouldn't we demand the same? This is an old saying, but it is true.

Students may pay their way through college, but it takes a scholar to "work his way through."

tion and throughout the world. Why happeneth it that similar groups of Negroes in Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington and Chicago have made no comparable impression on the public mind during the last quarter of a century? What is there peculiar about the Manhattan environment that it awakens such peculiar and unique response on part of the Negroes exposed to it? It is but a whim of white folks that will pass with the decade as other fleeting curiosities and crazes do? Or has it enduring permanence? These are but collateral suggestions which Black Manhattan awakes in the wide-minded peruser.

What a laboratory in race prejudice! These forty-four thousand New York Negroes of a hundred years ago have not numerically held their own nor have they made any significant place in the life of the community. They have one hundred years of educational advantage; during nearly half of that time they have been admitted freely to the public and private schools established and maintained for the most favored people in the world. And yet it is fair to say that few persons of distinction have been produced, nor have they gained or maintained any important place in the industrial, economic, cultural or political life of the city or state.

There is probably not a Negro in New York who has risen to any notable place in the business, commercial or financial world or has any controlling part in any great enterprise. Those that have reached the higher levels, for the most part are newcomers from the south. Why this relative backwardness? we query, and echo answers: "Why."

Neither can we escape the reflection that race prejudice though somewhat modified in form, is as assertive here as elsewhere. Harlem, thy name is segregation. But a flood of reflective suggestions sweeps me beyond my limits. May be Dr. James Weldon Johnson (whom I had the honor to hood with the doctorate) in a future volume or volumes, will engage to elucidate some of these reflections which well up in the mind as we contemplate the future of Harlem and of the Negro race.

Bedtime Story

THE TRUE STORY OF A DOG
The Fourth of July had passed and Jack and Evelyn were still very tired, but daddy had a story to tell them, a really true story, and tell them, they were very eager to hear it.

"There was a dog once named Dash. He was an Irish setter, and he belonged to an army family. His master was a young lieutenant in the army, and his master's father was a general.

"Now, this dog was quite old, but he had led an active life which had agreed with him splendidly and he didn't behave as if he were old at all. There were several young children in the family, and he was made a great pet. What he liked above everything was the sound of guns.

"He had been at numerous army posts and each one seemed to him to be quite perfect, especially on the days of target practice or when the salutes were fired.

"But, alas, one summer the famous to live in a stupid, quiet little village, where there was absolutely no life at all.

"Dash seemed to be pining away in the village. Quite country life didn't agree with this dog of the army. The family thought that maybe Dash was going to die of old age until one day came—the day of joy to so many thousands of people! And it was the day for Dash. 'Could it be true?' he thought to himself when he first heard the sound of a huge dynamite cracker. Then came another. With a bound Dash was out of his corner, wide awake and barking furiously. There was no more sleep for that household that night, but little did they care, for all wished to enter into the celebration.

"Late in the day the young lieutenant said to a friend of his: 'Let's go off to the river. I have several cannon fire-crackers to send off. I didn't dare fire them today, as I was afraid they might break the windows. But we can throw them over the bridge. Dash has gone to have his supper and is somewhat calmed down.'

"So off they started for the river, and over the bridge they threw a lighted cannon cracker. Just before it landed in the water off it went with a terrific report.

"They had lighted the other and thrown it into the water when Dash went bounding into the river, swimming toward the awful fire-cracker. There crackers had been recommended as 'sure go off,' and there was the beloved Dash going for it.

"But the fire-cracker did not go off! Dash snuffed at it disgustingly, while his master breathed the biggest sigh of relief and thanks of his life."

Had Very Little Energy

"Before I began taking your medicine, I was a nervous, tired, broken-down woman with very little energy. Nothing seemed to do me any good. One of my friends suggested that I take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I began. After taking two bottles I felt like a new woman. Now I am on the road to success. I highly recommend your good medicine to all suffering women. I will be glad to answer letters from anyone asking about it."

Another Problem

Then there is Mosely of Chicago, national grand master. It is alleged that Mosely who is a school teacher by profession refuses to budge from his job and home in the windy city and established himself in St. Louis in response to what is said to be a popular demand of members of the order. From time of the infirmary of the A. U. K. and D. of A., is said the grand master of the order was always known to reside in St. Louis. Mosely, it is said, will stay at the convention just why he does not choose to live in St. Louis in keeping with the established practice in that connection.

David Quoted

Members of the A. U. K. and D. of A. are responsible for the statement too, that Dr. S. H. J. David, proprietor of the Provident hospital is flitting very seriously with the grand mastership. It was also said that the Indianapolis doctor has expressed himself to the effect that if successful, he will move right into St. Louis in conformity with what is said to be the popular wish of the rank and file of the members of the Ancient United Knights and Daughters of Africa.

Dr. David is surgeon general on the Major General staff.

It is not now definitely known whether or not the Hoosier physician will press his fight for the A. U. K. grand mastership at the Dayton convention. It remains to be seen what dispatches will say of developments next week.

In the meantime a stormy A. U. K. Grand Lodge session is foreshadowed.

St. Louis Pastor Wanted In Louisiana For Murder Committed 33 Years Ago

ST. LOUIS, August 1.—(ANP)—A sensational legal fight has grown out of the unusual case of the Rev. Charles B. Gueghine, 63 years old, who is wanted by the State of Louisiana for a 33-year-old murder charge. Within three days' time, Gueghine's lawyers have appeared before Governor Caudill in Jefferson City and three divisions of the state court, finally getting a writ of habeas corpus in the state supreme court in an effort to keep their client from certain conviction and possible lynching in the south. Gueghine is represented by S. R. Redmond and Henry D. Espy, two prominent young attorneys of St. Louis. In the meantime, the Louisiana sheriff, together with two other white men, who "came along just for the auto trip," have become quite peeved over the unexpected delay in getting possession of Rev. Gueghine.

Says He Did Not Kill Doctor

Away back in 1897, Gueghine was a tenant farmer near Bayou, Pooche, La., and had gotten in a dispute with his white landlord over an account. Later on, the landlord, a Dr. Rigney, returned to Gueghine's cabin with a deputy sheriff named Grigsby. Words were passed, and Grigsby suggested that the doctor take Gueghine's hogs and corn in settlement of the debt. When Gueghine objected, Grigsby drew his gun and a shooting melee started.

"I jumped behind the doctor, pulled out my revolver and told him to stand still," Gueghine related from his cell at police headquarters here. "Grigsby shot at me and hit the doctor instead. I shot Grigsby in the arm and ran away. Hiding in the swamps and traveling at night I finally got to Saint Louis where I have made my home ever since."
